Justine Scafidi is a 32 year old woman that works at JoJo Carloni's in Berea, Ohio. Justine found out she was pregnant in February of 2019 and was scared but excited. A few weeks later, she noticed a lump on her breast and went for testing. On March 8th, she was told she has breast cancer. The doctor found two more spots on Justine's liver, classifying her as incurable stage 4 breast cancer. Weighing options and odds to give both her and her son the best chance, Justine opted to begin chemotherapy on April 22nd. Everything Justine has done has been for baby Joshua. Her attitude about life is extremely positive, even when she is scared. Knowing she is fighting for her son is what keeps her going, and we want to make sure she can focus on her son and her health by taking some of the outside stress away. Justine's due in late July, and we plan on fighting with her every step of the way. If you would like to attend or like to make a donation, please call us at 440-235-8880.
